CHARISMATIC LEADERSHIP EXPERT

When companies are struggling with employee engagement, productivity, and well-being, they call MILAM MILLER.

Milam has worked across numerous countries and led cross-cultural sales teams. Over the course of his career in Sports & Entertainment, Milam negotiated more than $100 million in commercial revenue. This was possible because of Milam's study of human relation skills and how to connect with others.

Milam is a leading expert on charismatic leadership principles. He's on a mission to create more workplace connection through the intentional and mindful use of soft skills. He's currently authoring his first book "The Charisma Craft" (set for release Winter 2024)

As the Founder of BCK – Be Confident and Kind – Milam has used his private mantra to create a public movement to build better leaders for the future of work. In the age of artificial intelligence and hybrid work, charismatic leadership can help to influence, motivate, and persuade others.

He's been described as "The Real Life Ted Lasso" and his heart is as big as the state he hails from—you guessed it, Texas! Milam's stage presence will leave your audience feeling inspired to take action towards organizational objectives and professional goals.
